DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 1, 8, and 7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Lukehart in view of Atkin.

Lukehart discloses a thumb pick for a guitar comprising a pick body comprising a base end(6) portion configured to contact a thumb and a belt body(2) which fixes the pick body to a finger, characterized in that the pick body is extended with an integral protrusion portion(3) extending from the base for picking the strings from a base end portion made into contact with the thumb, the belt body is separately formed from the pick body, and both end portions of the belt body is adjustably connected to the pick body. Lukehart also discloses the use of a bent portion along the side face of the thumb is formed at the end of the base end portion of the pick body, an engaging protrusion(12) is provided by protruding from the end portion of the bent portion, and the end portion of the belt body is adjustably connected to the engaging protrusion (see figure 2).

Lukehart does not disclose the use of a belt separate from the pick body.

Atkin discloses the use of a thumb pick for a guitar with a belt body separate from the pick body (see figure 5).

It would have been obvious to ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the pick as disclosed by Lukehart with the separate body as disclosed by Atkin in order to provide an quick means of attaching a pick.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

4. Claims 9 and 10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Newman.

Newman discloses the use of a thumb pick for a guitar comprising a pick body comprising a base end portion configured for contacting the thumb, a belt body(10) formed separately which fixes the pick body to the thumb and a hook (185) protruding from one end of the base end portion that detachably connects the belt body to the pick body.

5. Claims 2-6 and 11 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

6. Applicant's arguments with respect to claim 1 has been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
